

Abstract of the Disclosure

A service providing system which securely prevents application servers, where works are conducted, from illegal accesses. The system has a network, a service provider system for providing a service via the "net" work, a client who requests a service to the service provider system; the service provider system has a 5 service server being connected to the network and one or more application servers which are connected to the network via the service server.